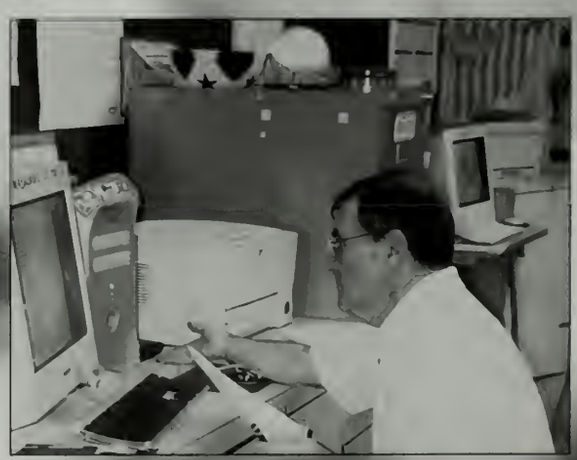
Class of 2003

We will never forget...

It is impossible to speak of the Longmeadow High School Yearbook without mentioning Mr. LeBlanc, or "Rog", as we call him. He has devoted thirty-nine years of hard work to the yearbook and dedication to the students. The Masacksic Staff would like to thank you, Rog, for always being there for us. You have been more than generous with your time and help. For many of us, you have become more than a teacher or advisor; you have become a mentor, as well as a friend, and your classroom, a second home. We could not have done it without you and we will never forget the effort you put into yearbook and the touch you have had on our lives. You will be greatly missed. We wish you a happy and relaxing retirement. Thank you, Rog.

Rog - 1974



Rog - 2003

Dedication

The class of 2003 proudly dedicates this years Masacksic to Mr. Martin Conway. Mr. Conway always inspires his students to do well in his class. He has a great sense of humor that makes learning seem fun for all and has taught all his students to take pride in their work. He is also willing to help a student to understand the material no matter what it takes. No one will ever forget his "demented smiley faces" and witty sense of humor.

Mr. Conway is not only a great teacher to his students but also a wonderful person. Last year, he recieved the Joseph J. Winseck award for excellence in teaching. He is a caring individual who always has a smile on his face. He is always there to support his students.

On behalf of the Class of 2003, we wish Mr. Conway good luck and happiness in his retirement, you will be missed at LHS.

Martin Conway

Senior Class Advisors

Dear Class of 2003,

When I started out with all of you in September 1999 it was my first time as a class advisor. I didn't know quite what to expect, but I knew that you were secial as soon as I began meeting each one of you in the strudent office during class elections. Since that day, we have grown together through various fundrasiers and social events. My personal favorites were the Lock-In, the Sophomore Semi and the Senior Class Play. What other class could have pulled off West Side Story? As I write this, plans are being made for your senior activites and I know that they will be the perfect culmination of a great four years at Longmeadow high School.

In addition to your high rate of participation in class activities, you will certainly be remembered for your tremendous contribution to the successful Proposition 2 1/2 override. So many of you helped to write letters, make phones calls and stand with signs to help preserve the educational quality of the Longmeadow school system.

I have enjoyed being both your teacher and advisor. I would like to thank Eric, Chris, Jessy, Megan and Liz for their dedicatd leadership and I wish each and every one of you much love, happiness and success in the future.

Sincerely,
Mrs. (Sra.) Maloney

Each time I write a Class Advisor Masaksic letter, it triggers reflections on the transformations of the students as they have progressed from insecure Freshmen to the graduating Class of 2003. There have been many steps along the way to graduation and they have not been the same for every student. Many of the steps were fun and exciting and led to new experiences. However, if not all the steps have been positive, each one has moved an individual alon their own path. Even missteps were opportunities to learn and thus make more productuctive choices in the future.

How many steps make up the path to graduation? From the moment each of you walked in the door as Freshmem, you began your journey along your personal path. Many things have influenced your steps. Your academic achievements are obviously the most important. Athletics and club memberships have also made a large impact. There have also been activities which involved you with Longmeadow High School and the other members of the Class of 2003.

There was the Freshman Dance where you stared at all the other students and wondered how to survive. With much more confidence there was the Sophomore Lock-In which was a great success - who needs sleep any way? You were really ready for the twinkling lights and sophistication of the Sophomore Dinner dance. As Juniors here was no hesitancy as you enetered the room of the Junior/Senior Semiformal - all of you looked great!

The Senior Class Play was chosen with determination and a "can do" attitude. The fantastic success of the play came from dedication, hard work, determination, and the willingness to put personal feelings aside for the "good" of the play. The productions highlighted the tremendous progress along the path to maturity. This years' Junior/Senior Semiformal reinforced the feelings that you enjoy spedning time with your classmates.

Now as we prepare for the Graduation itself, remmeber the steps you took to get here. They will always be a part of you memories, but it is time for new steps. The class is no longer worried abuot finding their classrooms, they are now focused on finding theirfutures.

Good Luck to All - we will miss you!
Mrs. Sutter

Senior Class Officers

As we reach milestones in time our natural tendency is to look and to reflect on experiences we have had and of times past. From our first day of ninth grade, to the Sophomore Lock-In, the Senior Class Play and Graduation Day, our time in high school will surely be remembered for the events, happy and sad, that shaped our four years here. Hopefully, the memories we take with us will become a part of who we are, and allow us to look forward, empowering each of us to seek the best as we travel through life. If we do this, we will always be proud members of the Longmeadow High School Class of 2003.

We have been honored to serve as your Class Officers. Good luck to the Class of 2003, and may the memories live on and make us stronger.

With Love,
Eric, Chris, Liz, Megan and Jessy

"If one advances confidently n te direction of his dreams, and endeavors t live the life which he imagined... he will put some things behind, will pass an invisible boundary...As he simplifies his life, the laws of the universe will appear less complex, and solitude will not be solitude, nor poverty poverty, nor weakness weakness. if you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundations under them."

How would you describe LHS in one word?

Crazy
Unforgettable
Memorable
Fast
Rollercoaster
Change
Interesting
Funky

Advice to Incoming Seniors:

Don't ever give up.
Make this year your best.
Get college stuff done early!
ICE Blocks are invaluable .
You'll never live up to the Class of 2003...so don't try.
Have fun!
Don't worry, be happy!

Favorite Teacher Sayings:

"If you're not going to be good, be careful!" - Mr. Sweeny
"Questions? Comments? Screams of hatred and pain?" - Mr. O'Conne
"The life you save could be your own." - Mr. Slate
"Heart on fire, brain on ice." - Mr. Mucci
"Oh Jeez, Oh Crow!" - Mr. O'Sullivan
"Warm Fuzzies/Cold Itchies." - Ms. Cuthbert

Biggest Difference Between Freshman and Senior Year:

Cars
Size of backpacks
Attitude
More studies = Less time in school
Braces
Importance
Not getting lost

If LHS had a motto, what should it be?

We came, we skipped, we got detention.
Comer es poder.
Work hard and play hard, or accomplish nothing.
We are the Lancers, the mighty, mighty Lancers!
Your night just got a little more interesting.
h planning your high school education, make your schedule as complex as humanly possible.

What will you miss most about LHS?

Friends
Spicy Chicken
Rog
Familiar Faces
Friday night football games
Judy
Mixed freedom
All my friends being in one place.

The Longmeadow High School Wind E semble began as a very promising group this ye and has only gotten better. They began the ye with a wonderful performance at the Winter Co cert playing a mix of classical and new wind e semble literature. A very ambitious group, t students have worked extremely hard to achie attain their wonderful sound and talent. The gro performed the songs from the Harry Pott soundtrack at the Pop's Concert, and music fro Lord of the Rings. The final performance of th year's seniors was a great success and a beautif major work. Hopefully next year will be as eventf and musically stimulating as the music and tale exposed this year.

bove: Nicole Sobel and Colleen Perry lead e group into the auditorium for a wonderful erformance at the Winter Concert.

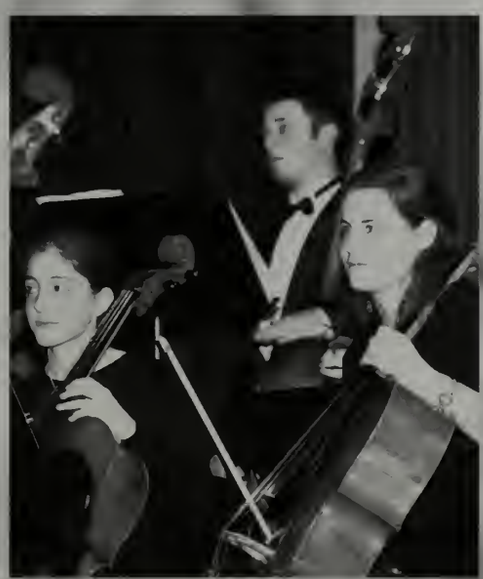
This year the LHS Symphony Orchestra soared to new heights with interesting and original selections of music. The group started the 2002-2003 year with the Winter Concert, opening with a nearly flawless performance of "Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23," a piece featuring the amazingly talent pianist, Steven Spinelli. The concert closed with Jean Sibelieus' "Finlandia," a piece never performed by the LHS orchestra. In the Pop's Concert in February, "The Harry Potter Symphonic Suite," was performed beautifully. The Major Works Concert was a large success and was enjoyed greatly by the audience. Music aside, the group had one of its best years yet, and its largely thanks to the hard work, dedication, and enormous talent of the members.



Above: Jen Hoff, Rebecca Ciceretti, and Joe Casper look at Mr. Mucci for cues in between pieces during the Winter Concert.

Lyrics has evolved greatly over the past four years. The dedication, motivation, and love for music has increased with time. The year started out with a wonderful performance at Umass in November. After much practice and night rehearsals, the Winter Concert was a big success. The group performed pieces such as, "Like Snow," "Ka Hia Manu," "Der Abend," and "Lillibulero." These pieces are a great variety of different styles and periods of music. At the Pop's Concert the group performed the popular song, "Virtual Insanity," showing off not only the group talent, but the talent of individual members of the chorus. After working extrememly hard for the Major Works concert, the audience enjoyed the moving performance. The group traveled to the MICCA festival in the Spring. Lyrics was also chosen to perform at All State in March because of their great talent and dedication. We will all miss this years seniors, but as usual the group will continue to prosper and succeed in the future.

I Cantori

lpha Order: Sean Boutin, Carly Chase, Beth Gordon, John Hanifan, Russell Hill, David Jangraw, Phil Landry, Katie Manzi, Jim Pacella, Janet Pohli, Colleen erty, Scott Rousse, Kerry Shea, Erica White.

I Cantori has done quite well this year ite their loss of last years seniors. In the ter Concert Cantori performed three french rigal pieces as well as the jazz classic, "How h the Moon." At the Pop's Concert Paul on's "Like a Rock," and "This Can't Be e," showed the amazing talent of the singers he group. The Spring Concert was a big ess and it is always sad to say goodbye to year's seniors. (Kerry Shea, Beth Gordon, een Rafferty, Janet Pohli, Dave Jangraw, Jim lla, and Scott Rousse) Good Luck next year I tori!!!

CROSS COUNTRY

Looking back, our laughter, dancing (Seth), and countless hours of practice have made this year's Cross Country team superb. We struggled through the rain and blistering heat all to earn a winning season amongst our rivals. With our coaches (Coach R. Campbell and Coach D. Lyons), captains, and Charlie Casartello leading the way, we were able to achieve great standings at the Western Mass Meet. What a great end to my four years.

This year our team came a long way. We've gone through some bumps in the road, but we stuck through them and went back to the playoffs. Our three other captains Vinnie Santanello, Derek Samble, and Joey Furnari, as well as myself tried to keep the team going everyday, and took each game one step at a time. We were very proud to be chosen to lead a team as skilled as the one we have now.

Masacksic, the Longmeadow High School Yearbook, is a very busy and active club. Every day after school, dilligent editors and staff members can be found in room 113, working produce the beautiful book that you see before your eyes. The book could not have been completed without the relentless efforts of advisor, Mr. LeBlanc and editors-in-chief, Malorie Schwartz, Julia Capurso and Alison Quinn.

Key Club
By Nathaniel Balder

The Key Club is back and better than ever this year. They provide us with little jobs that go unnoticed and are underappreciated, but are important nonetheless. The board members include: Niki Platzer, John Chamberland, Kaitlin Dugre, Nora Katz, Philip Landry, Ketti Chauhan, Lee Berman and Liz Chipkin. Aside from their nearly countless hours of volunteer work that the close to 120 active members performed, the club planned its own events, including a spaghetti dinner in the spring to benefit the Joe Winseck Scholarship Fund. Mr. Winseck was a long-time and well-liked history teacher who passed away in the spring of 2002. The Key Club also joined other Key Clubs across New England to participate in a region-wide project on children's safety. The club teamed up with Baystate Medical Center to educate the public about everything from the importance of wearing bike helmets and seatbelts to what the appropriate water temperature should be in a young child's bath. Under the guidance of its long-standing advisor, Mrs. Brown, the Key Club has enjoyed another succesful year.

By David Jangraw

The Longmeadow chapter of the National Honor Society is working hard to make this year a successful one by furthering the four main pillars of NHS: scholarship, leadership, service and character. The activities of NHS are separated into three main areas: tutoring, fund-raising and community service. Community service encompasses the Society's outreach programs, designed to fill a need within the school and/or community. Sponsored projects this year include the Rays of Hope Walk, the Crop Walk and a holiday Toy Drive through the Grey House program. This year has been one of many great successes and we look forward to future years.

Business Professionals of America

Business Professsionals of America
by Alex Shebar

The Business Professionals of America, or BPA as they are most commonly known, are one of the strongest and most active clubs at Longmeadow High School. Teaching young and upcoming white collar workers all they need to know about the industry, the club consists of a little less than forty members, and many of them are active full time. The club has had many accomplishments throughout this year such as many successful fundraisers, like selling bread from The Italian Bread Shop to hungry students. BPA also had the chance to compete in a competition held in Chicago consisting of students from around the country. With such leaders guiding the group as Tim O'Leary (president), Bobby Sullivan (vice president), Mike Kirstein (treasurer), John Togneri (secretary), Joe Bragdon (fundraising chair), Andrew Wernick, (member chair), and Joe Neal (historian), BPA was able to be a strong and effective organization throughout the whole year. BPA tries to have its members achieve an understanding of the business world for an upcoming profession after school is over, and they were very successful with that goal from 2002 into 2003.

Jet Jotter

Jet Jotter
By Eric Lesser
The name of the game this year for the Jet Jotter has been construction. The staff has been hard at work building a solid framework for success. The editors have created a new process for editing, writing, and publishing stories while an enlarged and motivated staff has been busy polishing potential. Several new, younger editors and writers have assumed leadership and have worked hard to improve the paper by writing spectacular articles and widening our school newspaper's scope. The Jet Jotter, while becoming closer as a team, has also reached its goal of creating some wonderful journalism!

Rough Draft
By Talia Cossin
The Rough Draft, the school's "alternative" newspaper, is active again this year creating and providing satirical pieces for the school and community. The purpose of this alternative newspaper is both literary quality and satirical humor. A traditional issue is a newspaper for April Fool's Day. Under the guidance of advisor Mark Staples and the editor-in-chief Alex Shebar, the Rough Draft expects to publish three times this year. Active seniors include Lisa Rosenberg and Carly Berezin, supervising editors.

Alex Shebar and Huong Nguyen work diligently on the next issue.

2002-2003 Impressions Staff

Impressions
By Lucy Sheehan
This year, the Impressions staff is working hard to achieve its goal of combining a love of art, poetry and prose to create a school literary magazine which represents the diverse perspectives and voices of the school community. Each year a selection of student works is published in the annual magazine, designed by Impressions staff. Led by editor-in-chief Emma Plaut, the diverse staff hopes to encourage the creative minds of the school's students to reveal themselves through the publication of student writing and art. The staff members make posters, read and discuss students' submissions, determine the contents and layout of the magazine, distribute the magazine, and, most importantly, have fun!

lıder the guidance of advisor Linda McShane, the staff hopes to create a magazine that highlights the talented and ginal works of the school's art and literary community. This year's magazine staff is working under the direction its editors Elina Tochilnokova as art liaison, Kristina Bonatakis as art editor, Anna Chin and Tina Chin as copy itors, Lucy Sheehan as literary editor, Scott Rousse as English department liaison, Alex Shebar as publicity editor d Michael Jermyn as layout editor.

Knitting Club

Knitting Club
This year a new club has challenged longstanding ideas about an old art. The Knitting Club has brought the pastime of knitting from the sitting rooms of old ladies, into the realm of teenage girls, not to mention teenage boys. A group of 30 students, ranging from freshmen to the vice-principal, Mr. O'Shea, the knitting club brings in all types. This group, which is two-thirds boys, meets for an hour after school, once a week in Mrs. Colgan's room to knit, talk and generally have a good time. The knitting club allows anyone and everyone to come together to enjoy an activity that is not hard to learn and allows its participants to take their minds off of their daily stress, and talk with friends. Some of the most enthusiastic members include the club's founder and president, Jimmy Fortsch, and his cohort Nick Magliato. The knitting club is helping to abolish the stigma that has been attached to knitting for decades.

French Club

French Club
By Chris Marble
Oui! This is the French Club! Supervised by Ms. Buescher and Mr. Ream, the French Club is expanding its members' knowledge of the French language and the culture associated with it. Once every three weeks, the club meets to explore aspects of the French culture such as food, clothing, etc., and plan up-and-coming events and trips. While the club has not had any events or trips at this point in the year, it does have some big plans for the future, such as a fund-raising candy sale. This will help raise money that will be used for the French Club breakfasts that are held perodically, and trips to French restaurants or stores, such as Northampton's "Cafe Casablanca." The club's president is James Maxwell.

The 2002-2003 AFS and foreign exchange students visiting on an LHS hosted AFS weekend.

AFS
By Ozaire Awais
AFS, otherwise known as the American Field Service, is in full effect this year with many new events that raise the awareness of foreign exchange students and promote global understanding. The club was designed to help and provide resources for foreign exchange students coming from other countries and students here, at LHS, who wish to become foreign exchange students.
The club organizes activities for foreign students in order to make their stay here in the New England area a memorable one. One such activity took place during Jan 9-12th. A total of eleven foreign exchange students from all over New England went to Northampton with members of AFS and had a pizza party, a pot-luck dinner and brunch, and went bowling. Ms. Pollard is the advisor for the club and Ryan O'Connell is currently the president. Former club president, Sara Wiseman, is currently living in Costa Rica as an exchange student. Other club officers include Tina Chin as the club's secretary and Cameron Leroy as the treasurer. Leroy recently came back from Japan where he was also an exchange student. The club has a bake sale every few weeks and proceeds from the sale go toward the activities organized.

Students Against Destructive Decisions

SADD
Students Against Destructive Decisions is a club that spreads awareness about drug and alcohol abuse. This year brought many great fundraisers including donations, ribbon and lollipop sales. Just before prom, we had fourth graders from the local elementray schools make postcards to send to the seniors reminding them to make intelligent and safe deicions on prom night. This year, SADD has become more involved with LHS students and the surrounding community. We are thankful that many underclassmen have gotten involved. We wish SADD many sucesses in the future.

By: Melinda Tang
This year, the International Club has continued on its path of growth and development. With the guidance of new faculty advisor, Mrs. Colgan, and the board members, the club meets every week to discuss international issues. In December and March, the club made its way to Boston to participate in the Harvard and Boston University Model United Nations simulations. Discussing issues such as conflict diamonds and global aging, the International Club learned to open up to opinions of other countries and work together with students from around the world to resolve issues facing world leaders today.

Amnesty International

Amnesty International
By Matt Fioretti
Amnesty International is advised by Mr. Fitzgerald. According to Mr. Fitzgerald, "This club helps to promote political awareness to the students and help them to get to know what is going on in the world around them." This small democratic discussion group is known nationwide. It is found in many other high schools and on some local college campuses. Amnesty International is known as a human rights group, and it covers interesting topics, such as women's rights and the abolishment of the death penalty. The club also deals with many other current events to bring people up to speed on what's going on, with topics such as the potential war with Iraq and the terrorist threat within our country. "These topics are important as they relate to the Charter of the United Nations, which is the Universal Declaration of Human Rights," said Mr. Fitzgerald. The club also supports democratic peaceful protests on these issues but is not known as a hands-on type of club.

Outing Club
Led by our club advisors, Mike Jangl '03, president; Alice Marshal '03, vice-president; Bobby Sullivan '04, treasurer and Annie Durfee '04, secretary and the guidance of our advisor Mr. Golen the Outing Club's purpose is to get out and enjoy the outdoors, with minimal impact on environment. Our most important motto is "take only pictures, leave only footprints." Some of the activites we enjoy include hiking on the Appalachian trail, skiing and snowborading. In late February we expect to spend our third annual weekend at the Noble View Chapter of the A.M.C in Russell, MA for snowshoeing and hiking, depending on snow. It promises to be a great year.

Science League

Science League
The Science League is not only a club, but a national organization. Mr. Hirsch, the science chairman at Longmeadow High School, has been running the club since it first began about twelve years ago. The following is how it works: the coaches that represent each school gather in June to make up a schedule for the meets that we compete in every year. Every meet consists of three events: a construction-type event, a content event, and a general event. The biggest rival for Longmeadow throughout the years has been Minnechaug High School, and there is usually about a one or two point difference between first and second place. These activities provide an enjoyable way to experience science outside of the classroom. Some of the goals of this club are to get as many students as possible involved and interested in science. The Science League aims to see all of the participants having fun, while doing the best that they can. Even if you are not the best science student in the classroom, you can still enjoy science in the world around you. So, if you like science, meeting new people and having fun, then the Science League encourages you to join.

"I like math," David Jangraw, a four-year veteran and de facto captain of the Math Team, declares. Dave and twenty other Longmeadow High School Students who feel the same way gather in advisor Mrs. Peter's room three Tuesday's a month to crunch Number Theory, Algebra, Analytic Geometry and Trigonometry in preparation for their monthly competitions with neighboring schools.

"How many people can you talk math to?" asks Mrs. Peters. "I am intrigued by their methods of problem solving."

Longmeadow routinely comes in second to Deerfield at the monthly meets; however, at the first meet of the year, the Longmeadow Math Team pulled in a tremendous upset. "Beating Deerfield" according to Dave, was his favorite moment in Math Team.

As Schools Match Wits

As Schools Match Wits
By Whitney Bloom

As Schools Match Wits is not only a group that meets within the walls of Longmeadow High School; it is a group that meets at the Channel 22 News Studio in Chicopee to compete against other high schools in a quiz show based on students' knowledge. For the many members involved in this amazing group, As Schools Match Wits has been more than just a gathering of a motley bunch of students; it has been a group that has risen to success. Along with their advisor Dr. Berger, members Chris Breen, Keerthi Shetti, Adam Janes, Maggie Lonergan and John Whang have all worked hard this year to defeat Pioneer Valley Rgional, Lee High Scool and Hopkins Academy in order to make it to the playoffs. Already having been on three shows this season, the members of this group are well prepared to face Holyoke Catholic, Enfield, St. Joseph's and Connick High School in the playoffs. Such playoffs will take place in April and May at the Channel 22 News Studio in Chicopee and will be aired for the public in June. The first prize will hopefully be awarded to the Longmeadow team, $150 and a dictionary for each member.

With the bang of the gavel, the members of the Mock Trial Team prepare to argue their case. Acting as witnesses and lawyers, the fourteen students read affidavits, examine, cross-examine and give opening and closing arguments to impress the judges and win points. This year's case: Racial Profiling and Search and Seizure Laws. Playing the defense or the prosecution, the team argues their case in front of a panel of judges. After a victory in their first trial against the High School of Science and Technology, the Mock Trial Team appears to be on their way to an undefeated season. With the help of advisor Louis White, the team is one step closer to reaching the finals in Boston. Members of the Mock Trial team include Erica White, Julie Kim, Mike McDonough, Jillian Zeppa, Katie Premont, Shruti Kashider, Christina Lee, Brett Reiter, Adam Karus, Maggie Lonergan, Meg Reily, Anna Chin, Suzanne Chipkin and Sara Dukeshiere.

Animé Club

Animé Club
By Katelyn Baker
The Animé club has returned for its fourth year. It is dedicated to Japanese animation or Animé. Throughout these years it has grown to approximately seven to twelve members who attend weekly meetings. These members range from freshmen to senior. Normal meetings are held on Tuesdays in room 13. During these meetings the Animé Club watches different animé series or movies and sometimes holds discussions about the animé they just watched. Sometimes they draw animé style illustrations. So far this year, the Animé Club has watched two series, Outlaw Star and Love Hina and one movie, Akira. On special occasions, the Animé Club will do different activities. For the holidays their president and founder, Peter Cangialosi, brought in a Playstation and food for the members. Peter Cangialosi, is not only the president and founder, he is also the supplier of the animé that the club watches. A concern arises among the members about how the Animé Club will continue into the future years, after Peter Cangialosi graduates at the end of this year. This issue is yet to be resolved.

METCO

ıETCO
y Sandra MacDonald
ıETCO is an acronym fo the Metropolitan Council of Education Opportunities.
ıETCO has been the program of choice for minority families since it began in 1968. The METCO program has een the model for other states. The students begin the program in kindergarten and follow through to gradua- on. In the beginning the prurpose of the program was to offer a solution to the problem of racial imbalance. The rogram has surpassed the origial purpose some years ago. The METCO program does exist as a viable choice r minortiy families and benefits both the urban and the suburban communities that it serves. The ultimate goal f the program is to teach all children to live not by rules that are black or white, but a common golden rule. ll expenses including tuition and transportation are provided by the Massachusetts Department of Education. nce a child enters the school system, he/she is expected to meet its criteria both academically and socially. The ıETCO program and its students have participated in every aspect of the school community. METCO has rought well received cultural programs to the schools. Ninety-seven percent of the students go on to four-year lleges. The METCO program has added generously to Longmeadow's General Town Fund.

A Better Chance
A Better Chance program in Longmeadow has been around for 27 years, and this year will mark its 28th year of service. This national program provides gifted inner city youths, mainly from New York City, with an opportunity to excel in school and obtain a high quality education at Longmeadow High School. The ABC scholars are removed from a difficult educational atmosphere to a more academically challenging one. Therefore, they have a greater chance of becoming more succesful.

Drama Club

Drama Club
By Ben Swasey
Don't let the name of their first play fool you. The Longmeadow High School Drama Club is back and booming in its first year after a four-year hiatus. Their first play, "The Worst High School Play in the World," was a critical and financial success, as the club sold over 200 tickets and made approximately $1,000 profit. Founded by three long-time thespians, Rebecca Lesser, Kellen O'Gara, and Taylor Carr, and with advisor Hilary Buxbaum, the Drama Club is a group of 60 up and coming actors and actresses. Every few months, the Drama Club puts on a new production. In the meantime, the club meets once a week, and up to four times a week when rehearsing. While at rehearsal, the club members work hard to create a set, design wardrobe, practice with the script, and complete all other facets of production that a quality play demands. Their next play, G.S.3., is a musical that presents a whole new challenge to this motivated bunch of dramatists.

Dance Team

The Dance Team
By Alison Fitzpatrick
The Longmeadow High School Dance Team embarks on its first full year of involvement and events in the community. The captains of the Dance Team, Callie Williams and Kathryn Bielunis, have worked diligently to create an active club which captures the enthusiasm of girls who are interested and would like to participate in a dance group. Callie and Katie have appointed a freshman, Natasha Conti, as "Junior Captain", with hopes that by attracting freshmen to the team, it will be able to proceed into the future as a fully functioning, energetic group. Thanks to the club's advisors Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Steel, the Dance Team has been able to spread its cheer to the community. "Katie and Callie knew many girls who had taken dance lessons and enjoy the performing arts. Many girls don't try out for the cheerleading team, but wish to use their talents elsewhere. Many could not find the place to exhibit them", says MacDonald.
Audiences of this group include, Longmeadow Days patrons, children at the Shriners Hospital in Springfield, and elderly at nursing homes. Practices for the Dance Team are weekly in the Longmeadow High School gymnasium, on Thursdays, from six to seven-thirty pm. The Dance Team's involvement in the community has been outstanding, and the dedication of its participants is to be commended. Members of the Dance team include: Captains, Callie Williams and Kathryn Bielunis, Jr. Captain Natasha Conti, Yelena Kondel, Megan Sikand, Justine Rosazza, and Liya Tochilnikova.

Unity Club

Rufus Greene and Vianje stand for the Unity Club.

Unity Club

The Unity Club is an organization focused on celebrating diversity inside and ouside of the school environment. With the help of their advisor Sandra MacDonald, the members of the Unity Club are involved in several different activities throughout the year in order to help in their community while showing their strength between students of different races, cultures and ethnic backgrounds. Previously named "Umoja," meaning "Unity," the club hopes to break down prejudicial barriers and eliminate stereotypes in order to make our school a more socially aware environment.

Tahir Graham, Chris Chapman and Rufus Greene surprise the yearbook photographer.

Indoor Track Team

Kaitlin O'Leary sprints for the finish line.

Lucy Sheehan rounds out another lap.

Sarah Cohn stays tough and keeps up her pace.

Clark De Los Reyes keeps his eyes on the prize.

Women's Club

Women's Group 2002-2003 Members are: Ms. Roccapriore, Kaylin Mayausky, Alyssa Guevara, Rebecca Katz, Priscilla Wytrwal, Thien-van Cai, Stefany Scliopou, Jessica Elin, Sara Begg, Nicole Sobel, Julia Ishak, Erica Santa, Elsie Chamberland, Cheri Kevane, Natasha Conti, Samantha Marble and Jessica Labulis

Women's Group
Compilation of Thoughts

Women's Group this year is proving to be a great experience for everyone involved. Each week the group meets to discuss issues that teenage girls face. Through the discussion, the group learns about ways to avoid problems suc as eating disorders and unhealthy relationships These meetings also provide the opportunity to make new friends and to strengthen friendships One important concept the girls have been exploring this year is the mass media's portray of the "perfect" woman and how essential it is that this idea be substituted with valuing a woman for who she is on the inside. Apart fro discussion activities, the group has done a walk for breast cancer and is planning to do a walk against domestic violence. They are also planning to do a random act of kindness to a local charity or shelter. It is obvious from their accomplishments this year that Women's Grou is a wonderful way for young women to come together and make a difference.

FAITH club
Julia Ishak

FAITH club is back again this year and has been keeping active by planning events and involving itself in the community! The first event was See You At the Pole, a chance for people of different faiths to come together and share in spiritual community, which proved to be a special time for everyone involved. Then FAITH club's first sommunity project this year was a collection for the Ronald McDonald House charity. A couple dedicated members even gave up some of their lunch break to collect spare change. They ended up collecting almost $80, which says a lot not only for their dedication but also for the generosity of LHS students. Apart from trying to reach out to the community, FAITH club has organized fellowship activities that have turned out to be a lot of fun for all who have attended. One example was a lunch out at a pizza restaurant and then ice-skating! Under its advisor Mr. Cormier, FAITH club has once again achieved its goal of ofering a spiritual dimension to the LHS community and has specifically used this year to give back to the community, a goal that can be attributed to the faith that there is in FAITH club. Members include Kelsey Hall, Mike McDonough, Emily Johnson, Meredith Johnson, Ramsay Ishak, Maggie Porter, Emma Welch, Elise Heaton, Melissa Sunter, Christina Lee, Eliza Mujalli and Julia Ishak.

Young Democrats

The Young Democrats
By Eric Lesser
"I wanted to learn more about government," explains Maggie Lonergan, on her reason for joining the Young Democrats. The club meets in Room 249 on Thursdays after school. According to advisor Mr. Fitzgerald, the purpose of the club has been to facilitate "general discussion of different candidates and issues of concern to Longmeadow students." Active club members include Maggie Lonergan, Leigh Dale, and Amanda Marsh, all freshmen.
The club was active during the 2002 campaign season, volunteering on the unsuccessful Shannon O'Brien for Governor and Kathy Grady for State Representative campaigns. Since last November's loss, however, interest in the club has waned, and the membership is currently inactive. Maggie has been "disappointed" by the lack of interest in the club since the elections.
According to Mr. Fitzgerald, the lack of interest in the club has followed a "general trend away from political parties and a diminished interest in politics."
Maggie remains hopeful, however, that interest in the Young Democrats can be re-sparked next year. "We hope to work more with recruiting."

Parents Advisory Council

The Parent Advisory Council was established to help facilitate communications between teachers, administrators, students and their parents. The Parent Advisory Council utilizes its strong foundation of volunteers to coordinate school related activities for the enrichment of all students.
